

Trovita Health Science Announces $6.3 Million Sale of SAFE-T FEED Enteral Feeding Device

PHILADELPHIA, PA January 30, 2019 – Trovita Health Science, a specialty medical nutrition company, announces the sale of SAFE-T FEED, an FDA cleared device for the administration of enteral nutrition formulas. The US FDA granted pre-marketing authorization for the device in March 2017. The all equity transaction was valued at $6.3 million, and the company received a return of equity shares and convertible securities in a cashless transaction.

Trovita's strategic divestment SAFE-T FEED allows the company to focus on new medical food product development and growing their currently marketed ENU Nutrition formulas. Trovita also plans to launch new specialty enteral formulas for tube feeding called Ultrient in 2019. The Ultrient product line-up was specifically developed to help minimize malnutrition in tube feeding patients, as more than 76% of tube feeding patients fail to meet daily nutrition targets.

"Trovita is happy to complete the SAFE-T FEED divestment so that we can maximize shareholder value by focusing resources on our growing ENU Nutrition products, and forthcoming Ultrient formulas for enteral feeding. Our plans for new product development include addressing the unique nutritional needs of patients with cystic fibrosis, as well as adding other new products to our portfolio. Trovita remains committed to our promise of offering the highest quality clinical nutrition products for consumers," stated William Brown, Trovita Health Science CEO.
